Artificial Intelligence for de novo drug discovery

Welcome to the latest edition of our newsletter

New website, Annual Iktos conference, Latest collaborations and much more…we are back with the latest updates from Iktos for you:

New Website Launch

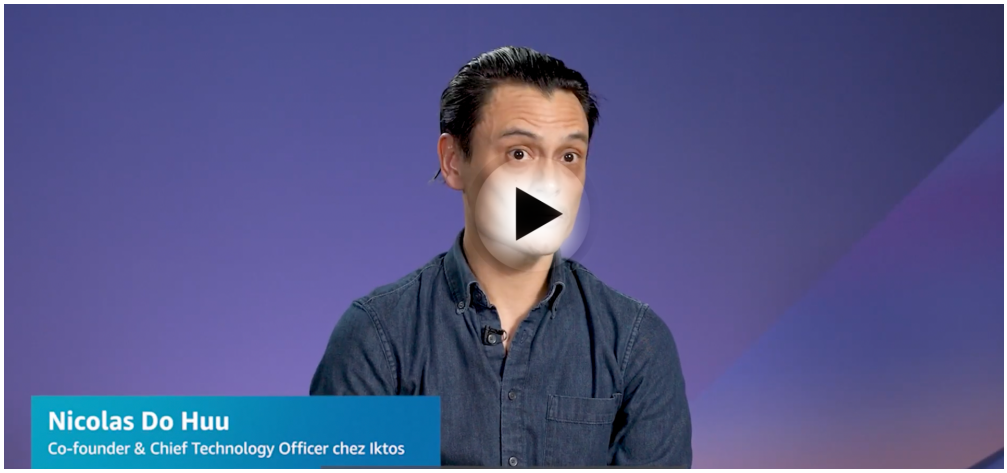
We are very excited to announce the launch of our new website: https://iktos.ai/ . Please take a tour of what we have in store for you and explore how our AI-driven generative modeling technology platform can expedite your drug discovery journey.

2nd Annual Iktos Conference

The second annual Iktos conference 'AI for de novo drug design' scheduled on 3rd & 4th May, 2022 aimed to bring together leading scientists and researchers from industry and academia around the globe, to share their experiences, research, and perspectives about all aspects of Artificial Intelligence (AI) in drug design and retrosynthesis. The conference was a great success with more than 600 global attendees, around 20 presentations from external and Iktos speakers, and 7 Tech Xchange sessions from Iktos partners.
We are pleased to launch the Iktos conference webpage where the registered users can access the on-demand recordings of the presentations and Tech Xchange sessions: https://iktos.ai/iktos-2nd-annual-conference-2022/

AWS Video

In this video by AWS, our Co-founder & Chief Technology Officer, Dr. Nicolas Do Huu, talks about the collaboration between Iktos and AWS and how the two organisations mutually support each other: https://aws.amazon.com/fr/solutions/case-studies/iktos/



Poster Video

In the following short video, our VP & Head of BD- EU, RoW, Dr. Sree Vadlamudi explains our poster on 'Deep Generative Modeling for Structure-guided de novo Drug Design': https://bit.ly/3Q5NGwc
